Girl Bather at Atlantic City
Faces New Woe.

MAYOR IS DETERMINED

Thinks That No Business Can Be Carried on Outside of Boardwalk.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 2.—The woes of the summer girl in Atlantic City are many, but now it seems that Mayor Stoy is trying to make things a bit harder for her, for if he follows up the stand which he took on Wednesday morning she will not have any chance to get her photograph taken in a bathing suit.

The mayor has ordered all the photographers off the beach. No business of any character is permitted outside the Boardwalk. Many of the young fellows who were taken before the mayor are young college men off on their vacation and looking for an easy way of getting a living during the summer, and they rather look upon their arrest in the light of a joke, and especially after Acting Chief of Police Maxwell set out a box of good cigars for them during the time they were awaiting the arrival of the mayor.

Carlisle Indians There.

Among the visitors during the week was the baseball team from the Carlisle Indian School, which came to the shore to cross bats with the Villanova College team. The Redmen came down on Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday morning they were out bright and early for a dip in the surf and a run on the beach.

With the advent of June life along the beach front is taking on a more lively air. Everything is being placed in readiness for the big crowd of people who will soon begin to arrive.

The piers, which have been open all winter, are getting out their extra attractions in the shape of all kinds of amusements, and improvements are being made on every hand to facilitate the better handling of the crowds which will patronize those places during the summer months. Haley's Washington Orchestra is playing three concerts a day at the steel pier, and at Young's ocean pier, Fairman's Boston Concert Band is furnishing excellent music every morning, afternoon, and evening.

In this latter part of the convention of the National Electric Light Association will be held next week. The entire big front music hall will be devoted to electric lighting exhibits of every character, and when the current is turned on Tuesday evening, the big hall will be a perfect blaze of light.

For New Traymore.

Plans are being prepared by a Philadelphia firm of architects for a new Hotel Traymore, to be erected in the fall. It will be built of the same materials as employed in the construction of the Blenheim, but a new decorating scheme for the exterior will be used. The building will be done so that it will not interfere in any way with the visitors of the hotel, which enjoys one of the largest and most select clientele at this resort. The new Traymore will be ten stories in height, and embrace every modern feature known for the accommodation and comfort of hotel patrons.

William K. Black, who was manager of the Maxwell House at Nashville, Tenn., for fifteen years, today began his career as an Atlantic City hotel man. In the capacity of manager for Green's Hotel, owned by Charles E. Cope, who also owns the Hotel Kittanning at the Water Gap. Mr. Black is well known to people who travel in the South, and will meet many of his old friends at the shore. Green's Hotel has a capacity for 500 guests and is run on both European and American plan. Mr. Black will also assist Mr. Cope in the management of his Water Gap House.

Atlantic City is enjoying the distinction of having entertained three members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet during the last year. The first to meet during the last year, Charles came was Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte, and while he was still here, Secretary of War William H. Taft came down on a short visit. Last week Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw came over to the shore and stayed for a few days at the Hotel Chelsea, which was his headquarters while here last year.

Want Roosevelt to Come.

The hotel men are anxious now that President Roosevelt shall pay the resort a visit, while he is the nation's Chief Executive, and accordingly have sent him a pressing invitation to come, for only one day. Should he accept, they have mapped out a program for a single day that will be quite strenuous enough to suit even the tastes of the advocate of the strenuous life.

Flower Boat Decorates Graves of Hero Sailors

Pretty Custom Introduced by Comrade Whitney.

When the little flower boat, launched on Wednesday at the Seventh street wharf, went gliding down the river taking its message of love to the sailor dead, everybody who read of the pretty ceremony was impressed with its significance. Many had never heard of the custom, although it has been in use five years, having been instituted by S. R. Whitney, a veteran of the Grand Army.

Year after year America pays her tribute to the soldier dead, but nothing has apparently been done to perpetuate the memory of sailors who lost their lives in the war. Comrade Whitney thought up this pretty little scheme of loading a little boat with flowers and sending it on its way. Five years ago the first fragrant cargo went gliding down the river carrying its silent message to the brave men who fought on the water and died in the cause of their country. Blue and gray alike were honored, and the sailors who died in the notable conflict between the Monitor and Merrimack have during these years been the object of special care by Comrade Whitney.

Comrade Whitney is an honored member of the Grand Army and saw much service during the war. Through all the years he has retained the patriotism which in that time drew him and his kind to the country's aid. In instituting this pretty custom Comrade Whitney more's business circles, has joined his family at the Hotel Traymore.

DELAY IN OPENING BATHING BEACH

Improvements Will Not Be Ready Until the End of the Week.

Owing to unavoidable delays in completing repairs and improvements at the bathing beach, the opening was postponed from yesterday until some day the latter part of this week. The bath house is being given a complete renovation and a locker system is being installed so that each bather will have separate compartments for his clothes.

The lockers are controlled by an operator, who sits in an alcove overhead. Each bather is given an identification check when he enters the house, and this he has to present after he returns from his swim before the operator will open the locker. Superintendent Stevens feels that this feature will add greatly to the popularity of the beach this year, and plans are being made to accommodate more bathers than in previous years.

Another cause of the delay is the fact that Colonel Brownell is making many improvements and putting in new drives around both the big and little basins. The aqueduct emptying into the small basin from the large basin is being replaced by a new one of modern construction, which will insure a steady flow of fresh water for the swimmers at all times.

The leading mills and carpet houses in the country were in competition for the order.

TYPHOID INCREASE PUZZLES OFFICIAL

Health Chief Can't Account for Conditions.

WARNS AGAINST THE FLY

House Pest More to Be Dreaded Than Water Thought to Be Pure.

Despite every effort on the part of the Health Department, the records of the Health Department shows that typhoid fever has increased by many cases over the showing of one year ago. So evident has this increase been since the first of the present year that the situation may be reasonably stated as bordering on a mild epidemic.

Since January 1 of this year, 154 cases of typhoid have been reported to the health authorities, while only 123 cases came to the attention of the department during the same period last year.

While not agreeing that the typhoid situation has any peculiar features which might be alarming, Health Officer Woodward admits that he is completely mystified as to the real source of the present marked increase of the infection.

Many theories as to the probable source of the increased infection have been presented to Mr. Woodward, the failure of the filtration plant, the common house fly as the carrier, and the principal ones. The first, Dr. Woodward gives no credence.

While Dr. Woodward has made the "fly theory" the subject of careful investigation and holds that the house fly is a dangerous and likely carrier of the disease, he does not agree that the fly has any logical connection with the fly at this time.

In connection with the "fly theory," which has been so strongly advocated by George Kober and others of the medical profession, Dr. Woodward advises that every precaution be taken against permitting flies to enter houses. One of most of the insects, he states, are at any time likely to introduce typhoid into a household by carrying the infection on their legs and contaminating food they happen to light on. The use of screens and a plentiful recourse to fly paper is advised by the Health Officer.

Camp 435 especially invites the Ladies' Memorial Association, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the two other camps in the city, and the Sons of the Confederacy to engage with them in this tribute to the memory of a brave and noble patriot.

Two Young Men Arrested in Cleveland Had Victimized Various Concerns for $5,000.
